The Loeb book here was a textbook for a college rhetoric class I recently took. Cicero was used as an introduction to stasis theory, so the class focused on De Oratore. It has a reliable translation (I can read the Latin on one side, and the English on the other).

The Rhetorica ad Herrenium was traditionally attributed to Cicero and reflects, as does Cicero's De Inventione, Hellenistic rhetorical teaching. But most recent editors attribute it to an unknown author. The Loeb Classical Library edition of Cicero is in twenty-nine volumes.
