Psycholinguistics by Jean Berko Gleason

Jean Berko Gleason is a psycholinguist and professor emerita in the Department of Psychological and Brain Sciences at Boston University who has made fundamental contributions to the understanding of language acquisition in children, aphasia, gender differences in language development, and parent-child interactions. Gleason created the Wug Test, in which a child is shown pictures with nonsense names and then prompted to complete statements about them, and used it to demonstrate that even ...

The Wug Test, created by Professor Jean Berko Gleason, revolutionized what we know about children’s language. Since its creation in 1958, it has become a classic, one of the best known studies of children’s language in the world. The little creature called a wug, first introduced in the Wug Test, is an icon in the field of linguistics.
