Hotel World is a novel by Scottish author Ali Smith, first published by Hamish Hamilton in 2001. Written in a postmodernist style, the story centers on five women whose destinies bring each of them to the luxurious Global Hotel. Each woman tells her own story, revealing herself as a different metaphor for one of the five stages of the grieving process—denial, anger, bargaining, depression, and acceptance.

Hotel World Summary | SuperSummary

Ali Smith's writing is haunting and acute. (...) Hotel World might have been depressing were it not for the invigoratingly sharp writing." - Vicky Hutchings, The New Statesman "Where British reviewers see ambition, subtlety and wild imagination, all I can detect are leaden whimsy and mechanistic storytelling. Hotel World turns out to be a thin piece of work."
